

Breastfeeding: Getting Started

Getting started at birth

- Put your baby to the breast in the first half hour after birth.
- Hold baby with her skin next to your skin.
- Baby's body faces your breast.
- Latch (put baby's mouth onto nipple) when mouth is wide open.

Getting going with breastfeeding

- Get comfortable - pillows help.
- Sit in a comfortable chair with arms or lie down.
- Unwrap the baby, hold the baby on her side, next to your skin.
- If you hold your breast, place fingers close to your chest.
- Touch the baby's lips with your nipple to help her open her mouth wide.
- Bring the baby close to you.
- Give no food or drinks other than breastmilk.

Your baby does not need anything but your milk.

- Do not give a pacifier (soother) to your baby.
- Feed your baby frequently, 24 hours a day.

Give lots of feedings - at least 8 or more each day

- Helps baby learn to breastfeed.
- Helps you make lots of milk.
- Makes baby comfortable.
- Baby does not need water or formula if she is feeding well.

Breastfeeding should be comfortable

If your breast or nipples hurt, get help so your baby can learn to breastfeed well.
